Man Hurt In Soccer Game, Dies

Cause Of Death Still Undetermined

A 34-year-old Fairplain man died last night while on his way home from a soccer game in which he had played. His car went out of control and struck a tree, but police aren't certain of the cause of death.

The man, Guenter Karl Klingenberg, of 209 Western avenue, was injured in the chest area while playing soccer for the St. Joseph Kickers, police said. The game was played on a field near the House of David.

Witnesses told Benton Township Sgt. Donald Watkins and Patrolman Robert Shepherdson that Klingenberg was offered a ride home after the game, but declined. Klingenberg then started his own car. Police said the car went out of control and drove in a circle. It crossed Britain avenue near the House of David, and struck a tree.

LYING NEXT TO CAR

When police arrived, Klingenberg was found lying next to the car. Benton Harbor Patrolman Robert Wohler applied artificial respiration, and Benton township firemen used their resuscitator.

Klingenberg was pronounced dead on arrival at 9:20 p.m. at Mercy hospital by Dr. Edward Haupt. An autopsy was to be performed today to determine the cause of death.

Mr. Klingenberg was born June 4, 1934, in Germany, and lived in the United States since 1958. He was employed as a tool and die maker for Deco Products of Stevensville.

CROPS HURT BY WET WEATHER

Rain Is Expected To End

Roads Are Reopened In Local Area

Southwestern Michigan agriculture suffered the most today as rainfall since Tuesday topped the 5½-inch mark in some areas.

Rain, humid weather, wind and standing water threatened small grains, hay, tomatoes, strawberries and sweet cherries, but highways generally were in better condition than during the heavy Tuesday downpour that registered 4.77 inches in the Eau Claire area.

Most of the rain came Tuesday, followed by a few hundredths to more than an inch Wednesday and early today.

An 11-year-old Niles boy was drowned Tuesday when swept away in a rain-filled drainage ditch, and roads in Cass county were cut by standing or flowing water.

Rainfall totals continued to mount today, but an area weather forecast listed no hint of continuing rain.

Clare Musgrove, Berrien county Extension Service agent, said the strawberry season may be cut short as rain-soaked berries turn to mush or rot and mold in humid weather.

CHERRIES, BERRIES

Sweet cherry cracking, caused when fruit takes in so much water the skin cracks, has been evident since last weekend.

Musgrove said the strawberry harvest now may be strictly a "salvage job." Flooding also has threatened some fields of corn, small grains, and tomatoes, he said, while wet hayfields will be hard to harvest.

Berrien county road crews continued to patch damage from Tuesday's rain, but no appreciable damage has been reported since and all roads were open early today.

A spokesman in the Cass county road commission office said some roads around the county apparently were cut by water or closed to traffic, and three lightly-traveled roads in Van Buren county were impassable from standing water.

Calls to Berrien Drain Commissioner Hazen Harner's office have slackened off to complaints on standing water and a few flooded basements.

Harner said one grower near Buchanan reported 15 acres of blueberries under three feet of water.

WORST HIT AREAS

Heaviest rainfall since Tuesday occurred in the Eau Claire area, where voluntary weather observer William Teichman reported a total of 5.55 inches through early today.

Second heaviest fall was at the Dowgiac sewage treatment plant with 5.04 inches since Tuesday, and third was the Niles plant with 4.93 inches.

Through early today, rainfall totals at various weather stations were:

Twin Cities airport, 3.19 inches; Galien, 3.90 inches; Sodus, 3.15 inches; and South Haven, 2.74 inches.

New Law Protects Guardsmen

Offer Immunity To Prosecution

LANSING (AP)—A bill providing that no activated National Guardsman could be prosecuted for acts performed in the line of duty was signed into law Wednesday by Gov. George Romney.

The measure, an outgrowth of the 1967 Detroit riot, provides that no Guardsman on active duty "shall be liable civilly or criminally for any act or acts done by him in the performance of his duty."

It provides also that during riot, invasion or disaster, the "honest and reasonable judgment" of a Guard officer "shall be full protection" against criminal or civil charges.

The state attorney general's office would be required to defend a Guardsman prosecuted for any act done while on active duty.

Romney also signed measures to:

—Appropriate $575,000 for planning of building projects at various state institutions and departments.

—License and set standards for clinical laboratories.

—Increase the fishing license fee by 10 cents, the money being kept by the agent who issues the license.

—Increase penalties for illegally taking trout, salmon and other large game fish.

Hutchinson Puts Little Hope In Fiscal Miracles

With politicians, inflation is like the weather: they cuss it out but almost always do nothing about it.

Since the New Deal days of 1932, inflation has been used by succeeding national administrations to keep business booming, to keep employment high and voters happy.

Full employment is a worthy goal, but inflation has an adverse side. Inflation helps some but robs many others. Particularly when it gets out of hand as it has during the past two or three years.

This district's Congressman pinpointed what he considers the hypocrisy of the Johnson administration's fiscal policy when he voted with the minority against a 10 per cent income tax surcharge the President signed into law last week.

Hutchinson says that current runaway inflation has been caused by excessive federal spending. He charges further that the $6 billion spending cut Johnson agreed to get his 10 per cent surcharge, is "really no cut at all."

"The government," says the Congressman, "proposed to spend $10 million more in 1969 than 1968. A cutback of $6 billion leaves the government spending $4 billion more in 1969 than 1968."

A majority of Congress may have felt little hope for realistic spending cuts while the nation prosecutes both the Vietnam and anti-poverty wars, and so latched on (albeit reluctantly in an election year) to the income tax hike as the only practical means of slowing inflation.

It seems likely that scientists of economics must, sooner or later, devise tools other than inflation to maintain full production if the nation is going to avoid a fiscal breakdown and the catastrophic business depression that would be sure to follow. For inflation is a real bandit.

One source estimates that in the last seven years inflation has cost the United States more than $188 billion.

As compiled by the Senate Republican Policy Committee, the record shows:

● Inflation has added over $100 billion to the cost of living.

● Inflation has shrunk the value of checking accounts by $10 billion.

● Inflation has robbed the people of $82 billion from their savings accounts.

● Inflation has reduced the value of pension fund reserves by over $17 billion.

● Inflation has eroded away $15 billion from the value of U.S. government and other bonds.

● Inflation has eaten $13 billion from life insurance reserves.

Inflation tends to feed on itself as various sectors of the public struggle to recoup the losses it's causing them. The spiral has been accentuated in this country by certain cynical politicians who find they can buy more votes with free-spending give-aways than they lose by digging deeper into middle class pocketbooks.

Yet, in this election year, it's still rather remarkable that President Johnson could coerce a congressional majority into voting for a tax increase. Senators and representatives who bowed to White House pressure and approved the tax boost no doubt hope the public will accept the new tax as an attempt to restrain inflation.

Perhaps the public will do so amicably, if the so-called budget cuts turn out as advertised. That 10 per cent surcharge, which will begin to slim pay envelopes within the next couple of weeks, is supposed to cool the economy by some $11.6 billion in the coming year. Other tax provisions in the bill may take nearly $4 billion more.

The hitch may come exactly at the spot Congressman Hutchinson has pinpointed. Will the administration actually keep its promise to cut $6 billion from the coming year's spending?

What billions Congress doesn't cut, the administration is supposed to surrender on its own. So far, the cuts haven't been announced.

The result is that while it will begin paying promptly, the public will have to wait to see how well Washington carries out its end of the bargain. Experience indicates that promises of economy have a way of fading with time.

If a pattern that has frequently emerged in such situations in the past is a criterion, a call upon Congress for a deficiency appropriation because of unforeseen developments would not be precedent setting.

If the added tax revenue turns out as estimated, and the spending cuts actually take place, the government should be some $21.5 billion better off. This would greatly reduce the anticipated deficit for the year.

Should it materialize, this would qualify as a year of miracles. And quite obviously Congressman Hutchinson doesn't believe in fiscal miracles.

Saigon's Draft

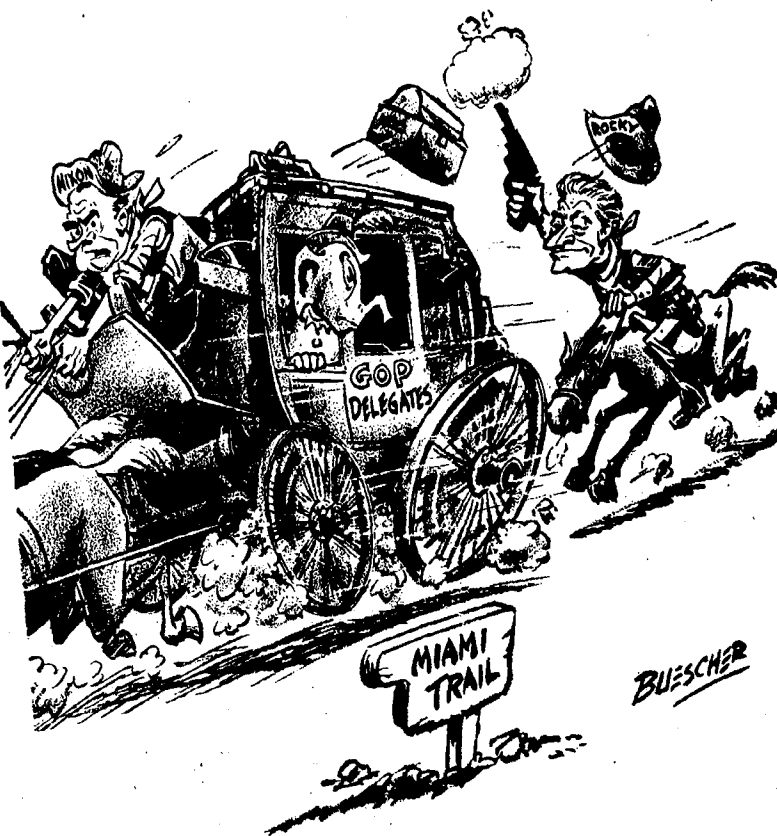

South Vietnam's first general mobilization law is an encouraging sign that the American military effort may not need to be further increased despite the impasse at the peace talks in Paris and the unabated fighting.

President Nguyen Van Thieu's words on signing the law — that his government plans to take over more responsibility for prosecution of the war and to draft 200,000 men by the end of the year — demonstrate an awareness that ultimately the South Vietnamese armed forces must carry the main burden of the fighting.

The mobilization, which will put 910,000 South Vietnamese men under arms by the end of the year, also bespeaks a determination to resist aggression from home-grown communists and their Northern allies with a national effort that has been absent in the past.

Hanoi should take note of this new "hard line" approach by an embattled nation, which, after seemingly interminable years of war may be just getting ready to put forth its best effort.

I wish to call attention to the good work Olga Stegeman is doing with her pictures in the press. This is a treat to find people do care for these little children. I believe if there was more of this to encourage children to want this for themselves, parents would realize what their children are missing — that there is a way to live other than in neglect.

Also emphasize prayer and thanksgiving at the end of the day and we would see a different generation appearing from all this untaught flower children, etc.

Children want to learn; they want to be clean; they want to pray and say "Thank you," but who can teach them if no one taught their parents? I am sure saying prayers for the photographer, also the program. We need more thankfulness and we'll see a change. Thank you. CONCERNED ABOUT
RIVER VALLEY ELECTION

A special responsibility has been thrust on the parents of students in the River Valley school district.

In two elections the voters have failed to pass the millage levy needed to operate our school for the coming term. In both cases the voter turn out was too small to be considered a real voice of the people.

Figures indicate that the parents, if they make their stitute a voting majority in the district, and therefore the prents, if they make their voices heard and their votes counted, can provide the school with needed operating funds.

I urge all parents to do two things:

(1) Be sure you are registered to vote. This must be done by Friday, June 28. If you have any questions call your Town-ship Clerk or Supervisor.

(2) Be sure to vote in the July election. This is our last chance to vote funds for this school year.

We have the start of a good school system. Now we have to answer the question whether we will accept our responsibility to keep it good and make it even better.

What will your answer be? Let's make this vote a resounding "yes" and assure school administration that we are serious about good education for our children.

DR. COLEMAN

.. And Speaking
Of Your Health

My husband has a blood disease, polycythemia vera. He is being treated by a very good doctor who draws off blood from his veins to keep him alive. Is there any other way that science has of treating this condition? Do you know where I can learn about it?

Mrs. C.J., Louisiana

Dear Mrs. J.:

Let me first acquaint my readers with the condition of the blood known as polycythemia vera. Because of a disorder in the blood forming organs like the spleen and in the bone marrow, there is a slow but progressive increase in the number of red blood cells in the blood stream. Associated with this is an increase of the viscosity, or density, of the blood itself. There are a number of different types of polycythemia. The one you referred to is sometimes called Osler's disease, named after the famous physician, Sir William Osler.

This is a very complicated blood condition that needs the constant supervision of the doctor who, by taking repeated blood studies, knows exactly when to use the blood-letting technique being used on your husband.

I had made the point repeatedly that none of the medical material in a newspaper column, or in a magazine article, is the private property of the writer. You can be certain that your own physician knows all there is to be known about this condition and has at his command, medical resources for consultation if he believes it is necessary. You can also be sure that your doctor's decision to use phlebotomy, or bloodletting, instead of the use of new chemicals and radioactive minerals, is based on discriminating judgment.

New drugs and radio phospho-

orus are being studied intensively, along with similar substances, to control the added output of red blood cells and other changes in the blood stream. When newer substances are available, your own physician will immediately learn about them through the weekly bulletins, newspaper's and magazines that are published to keep physicians completely informed about such complicated problems.

In your opinion is the extended use of estrogen in tablet form, during and after the change of life, harmful or dangerous?

Mrs. W.S., Pa.

Dear Mrs. S.: The use of estrogen, or as it is commonly known, the female sex hormone, during and after the menopause, has been extensive for the past five years. Although there is not absolute agreement by all physicians and gynecologists about its use in all cases, it has been accepted as a safe contribution to health and well-being of women during the change of life.

You specifically ask about "the extended use of estrogen" and that intrigues me particularly. The word extended seems to carry with it the impression of long sustained use without constant supervision. This is the key to the successful and safe use of any drug. It should be used only for the time that it is prescribed. No extended time should elapse without a recheck by the physician, or gynecologist, who prescribes this valuable hormone.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH—Patients, in and out of hospitals, must remember to tell their doctors about any known allergy to drugs.

Dr. Coleman welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

Declarer generally makes a preliminary survey of his winners and losers when he starts the play of a hand.

If he is playing a suit contract, he will usually count his losers; if he is playing a notrump contract, he will ordinarily count his winners.

However, this general approach has its exceptions, especially in suit play when declarer has a lot of ruffing to do in either dummy's hand or his own. In such cases he may find it more fruitful to count winners in making an estimate of his prospects.

Thus, in the present case, if South counted only his losers, he would note three in spades and (assuming he saw West's cards) at least five trump tricks as well. This would come to a tidy five-trick (1,400 points) setback.

But the fact is that South need not lose eight tricks — and not only that, but assuming he exercises a reasonable degree of care, he loses only three tricks and makes the contract despite West's formidable array of trumps.

He wins the diamond lead with the ace and immediately starts a campaign to score as many small trumps in his hand as he can. He returns a diamond to the king and ruffs a diamond, then cashes the A-K of clubs and ruff another diamond.

South has now won six tricks — the A-K of diamonds, the A-K of clubs, and two diamond ruffs. He still has the J-7-6 of spades and the A-Q-10-8 of hearts.

West has the seven trumps he started with.

Declarer leads a spade and West must ruff it and return a heart to give South his seventh trick. Declarer leads another spade and West must ruff again, then lead another heart, and thus give South his eighth trick.

Finally, when declarer leads his last spade, West must ruff once more and return a trump to South's A-Q to give declarer his ninth and tenth tricks.

West is endplayed three times in the same hand!

Hetherington said the fire department has increased from 15 to 38 firemen since he has been with the department. Fire runs for the same period have increased from over 100 to over 600 a year, he said.

The newly-appointed chief said he intended to make no changes in policy until he has

"As a result, a training program will be stepped up to meet this condition."

"Our inspection program will be reappraised to meet the changing conditions in our city," he added. "With continued cooperation of fire personnel, we can assure the public that they will receive the best possible protection."

Hetherington also expressed appreciation to city officials for their confidence and trust in appointing him to the position.

McCarthy Supporters To Meet On Monday

A meeting of the fourth district chapter of "McCarthy For President" is to be held Monday at 8 p. m., in the Shoreham village hall according to Eamon F. Rutledge, president. The hall is located one-quarter mile east of Red Arrow highway on Brown school road in St. Joseph township.

This meeting is primarily to distribute petitions to be circulated throughout the district asking that the elected delegates to the national Democratic convention support the candidacy of Senator Eugene McCarthy for President.

"These petitions are being circulated throughout the entire state, and there is good reason to believe it will be done on a national scale," Rutledge stated.

BH Will Lose Sixth Principal

Foss Is Leaving Bard School Post

The Benton Harbor school system lost its sixth principal since September of 1967 last night, when the school board accepted the resignation of Paul Foss, principal of Bard school.

Foss stated in a letter to the school board, "It is with a great deal of mixed feeling I'm leaving Bard school to accept a position with the Standard Oil Co. in Brega, Libya, Africa. I would like to take this opportunity to express the deepest gratitude and appreciation to you, the board of education."

Foss, a graduate of Northern Illinois university, came to Benton Harbor in 1963. He taught sixth grade at Fairplain for one year, before being named principal of Fairplain East and Northeast schools. He held this position until the fall of 1966, when he became principal at Bard.

Foss previously served four years as principal of an elementary school at Morris, Ill., and taught two years at Almont, Mich., after graduating from college.

He is a native of DeKalb, Ill., where Northern Illinois university is located. Foss, who is 6 feet 7 inches tall, played center on the NIU basketball team during his college days.

He is presently working at Bard this summer as coordinator for the summer youth employment program. He and his wife, Barbara, who is also a teacher at Bard, will leave with their two children, Cheryl, 12, and David, 10, for Brega, Libya, Africa, in August.

Important Elections Coming Up

Here's Schedule Of Local Area Clerk Office Hours

By DICK DERRICK
S J City Editor

Registration clerks would like to be busy Saturday — it makes the time go faster.

Saturday is the last Saturday before the Friday, July 5 deadline to register for the Aug. 6 primary. By law city and township registration offices must be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Saturday registration was set up by the Legislature to give Michigan residents who work when the offices are normally open during the week a chance to register on their day off.

Traditionally few people register during the special Saturday registration periods. A rate of one or two per hour is good.

The absolute deadline is 8 p.m. Friday, July 5 for persons wishing to vote in the primary election. With some races to be determined on a primary, especially on a local level, political observers said it is important to be registered for the primary election as well as the final election in November.

MANY UNREGISTERED

All registration clerks said there are a large number of people who are not registered. St. Joseph City Clerk Charles Rhodes said many people vote only in presidential elections, hardly ever voting in local elections. With new registration laws that require those that do not vote within two years to be dropped from the rolls the number of persons eligible to vote drops considerably. Change of address is another reason for registration total fluctuation.

Mrs. Bernice Tretheway, Lincoln township clerk, said normally it takes only a few minutes to register. But residents who delay may find themselves standing in line for upwards of an hour if they wait until the last day.

Here is the registration pictures from now to the deadline:

Benton Harbor city clerk's office open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday; open from 8:30 a.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; closed Thursday, July 4. Open 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday, July 5.

St. Joseph city clerk's office open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, closed Thursday, July 4 and open Friday, July 5 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

St. Joseph Township, located on Napier avenue near Colfax, open Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. although may be closed at noon hour; open 1 to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, closed Thursday, July 4 and open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday, July 5.

Benton Township, municipal building on Territorial, open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, open 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, closed Thursday, July 4 and open Friday, July 5 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Lincoln township office in Stevensville, open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday; call 429-5272 or 429-5477 to make appointment to register at the home of Mrs. Martin (Bernice) Tretheway at 5572 Donald, Stevensville (near Roosevelt school) for Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, closed Thursday, July 4 and the township office will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday, July 5.

Complicating the registration schedule for parts of St. Joseph township and Lincoln township — those areas that are located in the Lakeshore school district — is the fact that registrations can be taken for the Aug. 12 special school millage election on Saturday, July 6. But township clerks in those two areas pointed out that registrations for the state and county primary election close at 8 p.m. Friday, July 5. A person registering before the deadline July 5 would be eligible to vote in the school election but a person registering for the school election after July 5 would not be able to vote in the primary Aug. 6.

F&M Bank May Provide Mobile Units

Doctors
Quit Blood
ProgramHit Red Cross
Charge System

FENNVILLE —Physicians of the medical staffs of Community hospital at Douglas and the Allegan Health Center, through their spokesman, James I. Clark, M.D. of Fennville, have announced they cannot support a continuance of the Red Cross Blood program, under the proposed new charge system.

In their statement, the physicians explained that as of July 1 the Red Cross Blood program will put into effect a service charge of $9.50 for each unit of blood used.

They said that unknown to many participants in the program, a charge has been in effect for the past few years and has either been absorbed in hospital costs or has been billed to the patient in laboratory blood processing charges.

Clark said in 1966, the charge was $4 and in 1967, $7.75. He said the increase reflects a rise in processing costs, but that persons should be informed of the charge and not expect free service as a part of the "free blood program," expounded by the Red Cross.

The physicians said that close examination of the costs shows patients in smaller hospitals would be charged more in this program than they would through private agencies.

Dr. Clark said also that along with the service charges, the Red Cross also will charge $9.50 per unit for all blood stocked by the smaller hospitals but which is returned unused in excess of a 19 per cent utilization allowance. A survey from January to June 1967 showed charges for patients in Allegan Health center would be $16 per unit and even more in the Plainwell and Douglas hospitals.

Clark said the same services offered by the Red Cross blood program can be obtained through commercial blood banks in this area for a cost of from $12.50 to $15 per unit and that this charge applies only to the blood actually used.

Regarding the 19 per cent utilization, the physicians said the smaller hospitals over-subscribe in blood donations whereas metropolitan areas which would benefit from the new charge, either do not meet their quotas or barely meet them.

This means, the physicians said, that people in smaller communities are in effect subsidizing the blood program for the metropolitan areas.

Clark said another source of funds available to the Red Cross and not to independent blood suppliers is the 9 cents per capita assessment of the Red Cross funds necessary to keep the program available to county residents. This is for replacement outside the area, but other blood suppliers provide the same replacement exchange at no extra charge.

Finally, the physicians said the Red Cross insists that part of the increase in cost is the derivative from blood they make available to the health department for free distribution. Again, the physicians said, most of the derivatives are used in training hospitals in larger cities. They ask, "Why should they not be paid for by the persons getting the benefit rather than at the expense of persons needing blood in smaller community hospitals?"

HARRY NYE

WARREN LAKE

Nye, Lake
Eye County
Board JobsBenson Will Stick
To Township Post

Another man has filed nominating petitions for a seat on the newly-apportioned 21-member Berrien county board of supervisors.

He is Harry Nye, 56, of 4718 Hollywood road, St. Joseph, a member of the Berrien County Planning commission and the Lake Michigan college board of trustees. He will seek the county supervisor seat for District 5, which covers Royall and Oronoko townships.

Nye, who farms 300 acres of fruit and general cropland in Royall and St. Joseph townships, is the father of five. He served as Royall township clerk in the 1940s, is a former member of the Benton Harbor market board, served 13 years on the Royall township zoning board, and has strong ties with Farm Bureau and the National Farm Council.

At the same time, it was learned that Warren Lake, 53, of 2376 Riverbend drive, Fairplain, is circulating petitions to run as a Republican candidate for District 6, which embraces just St. Joseph township. Lake's term as a trustee on the St. Joseph township board is expiring.

Orval Benson, township supervisor, indicated he will not seek the new county supervisor position from District 6 but will serve the remaining two years of his term as township supervisor.

Three Oaks village officials told members of the Berrien county public works board Wednesday that they will hold a special meeting next week to seek public works backing in financing a sewage system.

The council will consider a resolution next week requesting public works support in financing a storm and sanitary sewer system and treatment plant tentatively estimated at $800,000.

Also Tuesday, the board was told the Michigan Municipal Finance commission has okayed a raise in maximum interest on $2 million in Benton township water line bonds from 5 up to 5.5 per cent.

The board sought a six per cent peak, as bond interest rates have gone higher. But a bonding attorney, Robert Hammell of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone of Detroit, said the bond market seems to be improving now.

The board will accept construction bids on the county-supported $2 million Benton township water system on July 2 at 2 p.m. in the third-floor supervisors' room in the county courthouse, St. Joseph.

Rural AreasSeek Approval
Of Comptroller

On-the-spot banking service will be offered in twelve nearby rural communities by the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Benton Harbor if an application to establish such service is approved by the comptroller of currency in Washington. The application is currently under consideration at the comptroller's office, it was announced today by Richard E. Willard, executive vice-president of F&M bank.

Plans by the F&M bank incorporate the use of bank mobile vans which will be driven to each locality to provide three hours of full-service banking, two days every week in each community.

Areas listed in the application include: Lake Michigan Beach, Riverside, Bainbridge Center, Spinks Corners, Buckhorn-Arden, Berrien Center, New Troy, Glendora, Union Pier, Dayton, Scottsdale and Bertrand, all in Berrien county.

Regular F&M tellers will operate the mobile banking unit. They will be fully equipped to receive checking and savings deposits, cash checks, grant loans and mortgages, and offer Trust department consultation upon previously arranged request.

FUTURE PLANS

Decisions regarding the establishment of full-time banking facilities in the proposed communities will be considered later, according to Willard. Such facilities would depend on the volume of business conducted, area growth and general economic justification.

"Our application for this extended service is another progressive step toward convenient banking for our present and future customers in Southwest Michigan," Willard added. Two F&M Bank offices are currently located in downtown Benton Harbor, and branches serve the area at Fairplain Plaza, Red Arrow highway, Bridgman and Stevensville.

The application for permission to add mobile banking facilities is similar to a service now being offered to five rural communities in Clinton county in the Lansing area. It is patterned after plans now operating in New York state, Pennsylvania, and on the west coast.

The F&M bank's report of April 18 shows deposit totals exceeding $41 million and resources over $45 million.

Paw Paw Schools
Will Seek 6 Mills

PAW PAW — Voters in the Paw Paw school district will be asked to approve a total of 6 mills on two proposals when they go to the polls on July 29.

The Paw Paw board of education set the special election when they met June 13 and last night set the amounts of millage to be asked.

The board said they had determined four mills would be needed for additional operating money and two mills would be needed for repairs to the Michigan avenue elementary school.

Both mill levies would be for three years.

The Paw Paw school district currently operates on 18.18 mills. Of this amount 8.68 mills is received from the Van Buren County Tax Allocation board and 9.5 mills is extra voted millage which will expire next year.

The two mills to repair the Michigan avenue school would make the 44-year-old building useable until such time when a new school can be constructed.

Last Feb. 21, Michigan avenue school students were given a short vacation after an engineer's report revealed serious questions as to the safety of the building. The building was later reopened after temporary repairs were made.

In other business, it was reported foundations are being installed for two more portable classrooms. It was also reported by Supt. Dan McConnell the school census at the end of the school year was 3,097, five less than last year. However, said McConnell he anticipates an increase at the beginning of the new school year.

On McConnell's recommendation, the board authorized $800 to be used for a gravel base for the Michigan avenue school bus parking lot. It was announced three new courses will be offered next year. They are power mechanics, introduction to business and a second year French class. The board also voted to purchase new textbooks for these classes and to replace other textbooks that are five years old or older.

The board appropriated $43,216.32 to be used for new equipment, maintenance, replacement items and payments on three new buses. The board also discussed the possibility of hiring an additional maintenance man on a part time basis.

The board approved for payment payrolls of $205,988.74 and for miscellaneous accounts, $8,593.87.

Finally the board expressed its appreciation to Board president Williams A. Cutting for 13 years of service and Luther I. Daines for seven years service as members of the board. The two men did not seek reelection to the board and this was their final meeting.

By JACQUELINE KORNOA
LANSING (AP) — A move to show "lack of confidence" in the State Superintendent of Public Instruction turned into a double-barreled assault on the accused Wednesday at a State Board of Education meeting.

In a letter to colleagues and Gov. George Romney, board member James F. O'Neil said he was "dismayed at the ineffectiveness of the office of superintendent" Ira Polley.

He cited as "evidence" of ineffectiveness "lack of organization and planning, the loss of respected key personnel, board direction being ignored, delayed and perverted and general administrative inadequacy."

O'NEIL LETTER

"This is an intolerable situation which the State Board of Education and the State of Michigan can no longer tolerate," O'Neil wrote in the letter made public by Polley.

"Something must be done, something has to be done and it needs to be done immediately," O'Neil concluded.

Fellow board members acted immediately. They voted 5-1, with one abstention, their confidence in Polley.

NEW BUFFALO — Paul Pippin, 21, of 116 South Smith street, New Buffalo, yesterday pleaded innocent to charges of selling amphetamine without a license and for possession of marijuana.

New Buffalo state police said Pippin failed to post $1,200 bond and is now in the Berrien county jail. They said he was arraigned before St. Joseph municipal judge Maurice Weber on the charge of possession of marijuana and Pippin pleaded innocent, demanded examination and bond was set at $1,000.

Officers added that samples of the small quantity of what they termed marijuana were sent to the state police laboratory at Lansing for positive identification.

On the charge of selling amphetamine, a stimulant drug, without a license, troopers said Pippin pleaded innocent before Benton township Justice Leo Price and bond was set at $200.

Troopers said Pippin was arrested Tuesday in New Buffalo. A warrant for his arrest charging him with selling amphetamine without a license had previously been issued.

Police said a car driven by McGill collided with a vehicle driven by Mary Ann Hollander, 26, route 3, Fennville, at the intersection around 12:50 p.m.

Mrs. Hollander, who was treated for minor injuries at a Holland hospital, was ticketed for failure to yield right of way, troopers added.

Charge System

FENVILLE — Physicians of the medical staffs of Community hospital at Douglas and the Allegan Health Center, through their spokesman, James I. Clark, M.D. of Fennville, have announced they cannot support a continuance of the Red Cross blood program, under the proposed new charge system.

In their statement, the physicians explained that as of July 1 the Red Cross blood program will put into effect a service charge of $9.50 for each unit of blood used.

They said that unknown to many participants in the program, a charge has been in effect for the past few years and has either been absorbed in hospital costs or has been billed to the patient in laboratory blood processing charges.

Clark said in 1966, the charge was $4 and in 1967, $7.75. He said the increase reflects a rise in processing costs, but that persons should be informed of the charge and not expect free service as a part of the "free blood program," expounded by the Red Cross.

The physicians said that close examination of the costs shows patients in smaller hospitals would be charged more in this program than they would through private agencies.

Dr. Clark said also that along with the service charges, the Red Cross also will charge $9.50 per unit for all blood stocked by the smaller hospitals but which is returned unused in excess of a 19 per cent utilization allowance. A survey from January to June 1967 showed charges for patients in Allegan Health center would be $16 per unit and even more in the Plainwell and Douglas hospitals. Clark said the same services offered by the Red Cross blood program can be obtained through commercial blood banks in this area for a cost of from $12.50 to $15 per unit and that this charge applies only to the blood actually used.

Regarding the 19 per cent utilization, the physicians said the smaller hospitals over-subscribe in blood donations whereas metropolitan areas which would benefit from the new charge, either do not meet their quotas or barely meet them.

This means, the physicians said, that people in smaller communities are in effect subsidizing the blood program for the metropolitan areas.

Clark said another source of funds available to the Red Cross and not to independent blood suppliers is the 9 cents per capita assessment of the Red Cross funds necessary to keep the program available to county residents. This is for replacement outside the area, but other blood suppliers provide the same replacement exchange at no extra charge.

Finally, the physicians said the Red Cross insists that part of the increase in cost is the derivative from blood they make available to the health department for free distribution. Again, the physicians said most of the derivatives are used in training hospitals in larger cities. They ask, "Why should they not be paid for by the persons getting the benefit rather than at the expense of persons needing blood in smaller community hospitals?"

Another man has filed nominating petitions for a seat on the newly-apportioned 21-member Berrien county board of supervisors.

He is Harry Nye, 56, of 4718 Hollywood road, St. Joseph, a member of the Berrien County Planning commission and the Lake Michigan college board of trustees. He will seek the county supervisor seat for District 5, which covers Royallton and Ononoko townships.

Nye, who farms 300 acres of fruit and general cropland in Royallton and St. Joseph townships, is the father of five. He served as Royallton township clerk in the 1940s, is a former member of the Benton Harbor market board, served 13 years on the Royallton township zoning board, and has strong ties with Farm Bureau and the National Peach Council.

At the same time, it was learned that Warren Lake, 53, of 2376 Riverbend drive, Fairplain, is circulating petitions to run as a Republican candidate from District 6, which embraces just St. Joseph township. Lake's term as a trustee on the St. Joseph township board is expiring.

Orval Benson, township supervisor, indicated he will not seek the new county supervisor position from District 6 but will serve the remaining two years of his term as township supervisor.

$800,000 Sewer
Project Proposed

Three Oaks village officials told members of the Berrien county public works board Wednesday that they will hold a special meeting next week to seek public works backing in financing a sewage system.

The council will consider a resolution next week requesting public works support in financing a storm and sanitary sewer system and treatment plant tentatively estimated at $800,000.

Also Tuesday, the board was told the Michigan Municipal Finance commission has okayed a raise in maximum interest on $2 million in Benton township water line bonds from 5 up to 5.5 per cent.

The board sought a six per cent peak, as bond interest rates have gone higher. But a bonding attorney, Robert Hammell of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone of Detroit, said the bond market seems to be improving now.

The board will accept construction bids on the county-supported $2 million Benton township water system on July 2 at 2 p.m. in the third-floor supervisors' room in the county courthouse, St. Joseph.

Of Comptroller

On-the-spot banking service will be offered in twelve nearby rural communities by the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Benton Harbor if an application to establish such service is approved by the comptroller of currency in Washington. The application is currently under consideration at the comptroller's office, it was announced today by Richard E. Willard, executive vice-president of F&M bank.

Plans by the F&M bank incorporate the use of bank mobile vans which will be driven to each locality to provide three hours of full-service banking, two days every week in each community.

Areas listed in the application include: Lake Michigan Beach, Riverside, Bainbridge Center, Spinks Corners, Buckhorn-Arden, Berrien Center, New Troy, Glendora, Union Pier, Dayton, Scottsdale and Bertrand, all in Berrien county.

Regular F&M tellers will operate the mobile banking unit. They will be fully equipped to receive checking and savings deposits, cash checks, grant loans and mortgages, and offer Trust department consultation upon previously arranged request.

FUTURE PLANS

Decisions regarding the establishment of full-time banking facilities in the proposed communities will be considered later, according to Willard. Such facilities would depend on the volume of business conducted, area growth and general economic justification.

"Our application for this extended service is another progressive step toward convenient banking for our present and future customers in Southwestern Michigan," Willard added. Two F&M Bank offices are currently located in downtown Benton Harbor, and branches serve the area at Fairplain Plaza, Red Arrow highway, Bridgman and Stevensville.

The application for permission to add mobile banking facilities is similar to a service now being offered to five rural communities in Clinton county in the Lansing area. It is patterned after plans now operating in New York state, Pennsylvania, and on the west coast.

The F&M bank's report of April 18 shows deposit totals exceeding $41 million and resources over $45 million.

Paw Paw Schools
Will Seek 6 Mills

PAW PAW — Voters in the Paw Paw school district will be asked to approve a total of 6 mills on two proposals when they go to the polls on July 29.

The Paw Paw board of education set the special election when they met June 13 and last night set the amounts of millage to be asked.

The board said they had determined four mills would be needed for additional operating money and two mills would be needed for repairs to the Michigan avenue elementary school. Both mill levies would be for three years.

The Paw Paw school district currently operates on 18.18 mills. Of this amount 8.68 mills is received from the Van Buren County Tax Allocation board and 9.5 mills is extra voted millage which will expire next year.

The two mills to repair the Michigan avenue school would make the 44-year-old building useable until such time when a new school can be constructed. Last Feb. 21, Michigan avenue school students were given a short vacation after an engineer's report revealed serious questions as to the safety of the building. The building was later reopened after temporary repairs were made.

In other business, it was reported foundations are being installed for two more portable classrooms. It was also reported by Supl. Dan McConnell the school census at the end of the school year was 3,097, five less than last year. However, said McConnell he anticipates an increase at the beginning of the new school year.

On McConnell's recommendation, the board authorized $800 to be used for a gravel base for the Michigan avenue school bus parking lot. It was announced three new courses will be offered next year. They are power mechanics, introduction to business and a second year French class. The board also voted to purchase new textbooks for these classes and to replace other textbooks that are five years old or older.

The board appropriated $43,216.32 to be used for new equipment, maintenance, replacement items and payments on three new buses. The board also discussed the possibility of hiring an additional maintenance man on a part time basis.

The board approved for payment payrolls of $205,989.74 and for miscellaneous accounts, $8,593.87.

Finally the board expressed its appreciation to Board president Williams A. Cutting for 13 years of service and Luther I. Daines for seven years service as members of the board. The two men did not seek reelection to the board and this was their final meeting.

Backed By Rest
Of State Board

By JACQUELINE KORNOA LANSING (AP) — A move to show "lack of confidence" in the State Superintendent of Public Instruction turned into a double-barreled assault on the accused Wednesday at a State Board of Education meeting.

In a letter to colleagues and Gov. George Romney, board member James F. O'Neil said he was "dismayed at the ineffectiveness of the office of superintendent" Ira Polley.

He cited as "evidence" of ineffectiveness "lack of organization and planning, the loss of respected key personnel, board direction being ignored, delayed and perverted and general administrative inadequacy."

O'NEIL LETTER

"This is an intolerable situation which the State Board of Education and the State of Michigan can no longer tolerate," O'Neil wrote in the letter made public by Polley.

"Something must be done, something has to be done and it needs to be done immediately," O'Neil concluded.

Fellow board members acted immediately.

They voted 5-1, with one abstention, their confidence in Polley.

Some board members earlier had charged O'Neil with "misuse" of state stationery, particularly in connection with a letter sent to President Johnson and some members of Congress in the wake of the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

That letter had charged various branches of the federal government with contributing to what O'Neil termed "the present virus of violence" in the United States.

VARIOUS COMPLAINTS

O'Neil's complaints centered around:

"Agendas and materials for meetings repeatedly arriving too late to be adequately studied or to properly seek counsel and advice."

—Loss of respected key personnel including deputy superintendent, state librarian and head of research bureau... who has yet to be replaced after some nine months."

—Delaying and perversion of board direction, with specific reference to a higher education plan.

—Delays in acting on some matters, such as a fall meeting with urban school district representatives regarding dropouts. O'Neil said a summary he submitted on the meeting to Polley and was promised a full report "in the very immediate future." The matter finally was presented to the board in late January, O'Neil said.

Charging "political pressures" have been brought to bear on some board members, O'Neil said, "what we need is a board of control and not a controlled board."

MORTON REPLIES

"I do not consider myself controlled by anyone," retorted Dr. Charles Morton.

No state agency has a right to hold its personnel in "indentured servitude," Morton added in response to O'Neil's point on loss of key personnel.

Polley replied briefly, calling O'Neil's comments "a masterful attempt" to equate his own opinions with those of the entire board. The superintendent also promised board members a point-by-point answer to O'Neil's complaints.

Marilyn Kelley Stout, a Democratic board member, charged Republican O'Neil with taking "a shotgun approach" to the problems of the board.

"For every ounce of truth (in his letter), there are three or four pounds of inaccuracy and vagueness," she said, adding the motion for a vote of confidence in Polley.

BLASTS O'NEIL

She termed the letter a "self-serving, self-advancing, political, nit-picking document," and said:

"You are calling foul and you are calling politics when you are not getting your own way."

Morton supported the point, saying, "during his tenure on the board Mr. O'Neil has been the sole vote on the losing side of an issue 20 times. On 28 other votes, only one member voted with him on the losing side of an issue."

O'Neil's letter "can only be reaction out of frustration," Morton added.

Boycotts Planned In 40 Cities

New Tactic Of Poor People

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Poor People's Campaign leader says a new tactic—economic boycotts in about 40 cities—will begin in downtown Washington next week in an effort to put new pressure on Congress.

The leader, Jesse Jackson, said the aim of the boycott against specific products will be to force businessmen to pressure Congress for appropriations to relieve hunger and malnutrition among the nation's poor.

Jackson did not name the other target cities.

In another new tactic, the campaign asked a federal court injunction Wednesday to force Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to use $227 million for food for the poor.

Freeman said the money is earmarked to support perishable food prices and is to be turned back to the federal Treasury June 30 because he has no authority from Congress to use it for any other purpose.

—Reles Tijerina, leader of the campaign's Mexican-American contingent, said he will seek a meeting with U.N. Secretary-General U Thant on the group's land claims in the southwestern United States. He said a caravan will go to New York in about a week.

The mules for the campaign's symbolic wagon train were impounded Wednesday by U.S. Park Police who said the animals were not getting proper care.

But the Interior Department said later a Washington woman, Mrs. Marilyn Riviere, had arranged to pay a month's board for the mules at a horse farm in Columbia, Md., and said she would pay to transport the mules to Washington when needed for demonstrations.

Jackson had said before that target products for the boycott now planned to begin in Washington next week would include salmon and grapes.

He said salmon would be boycotted in support of Indian fishing claims in the Pacific Northwest and grapes in support of Mexican-American labor organizing efforts in the West.

Michigan GOP Cool To Nixon?

Fails To Stir Delegates On Visit To State

LANSING (AP) — Former Vice President Richard Nixon Wednesday failed to generate the same enthusiasm among Michigan delegates to the Republican national convention as did New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in his meeting with state GOP delegates last month.

For more than two hours, Nixon met behind closed doors with the delegates, explaining his views on Vietnam, inflation, crime and racial unrest.

Nixon, like Rockefeller in his May 22 Detroit visit, was seeking votes at the August convention.

"I was a little disappointed about the depths of his answers to the questions," said Weldon Yeager of Detroit. "He was not as impressive as Rockefeller."

Several delegates declined to compare the performances of the two presidential aspirants, saying only that both men are competent.

SUBSIDY SUPPORTERS

Pro-Nixon delegates even refused to claim that the former vice president's presentation was enormously successful. Instead, they merely stated that Nixon's performance was comparable to Rockefeller's.

Part of the reason may have been the approach of the two men. Rockefeller frequently took the delegates into his confidence, making off-the-record statements that he would not state in public.

Nixon refused to do this, delegates said. He only told them that soon he would have new policy statements to make in regards to certain problem areas.

After the meeting, Nixon said he was disappointed that he didn't have time to learn the views of the delegates. However, he added, "I got through all the questions."

Rockefeller was unable to answer all the questions during his meeting with delegates.

The questions were submitted to both candidates prior to their appearances before the delegation.

Earlier, at an airport news conference, Nixon stated that he would not attempt to win Gov. George Romney's support by offering him the vice presidency.

"I am not here for the purpose of discussing the vice presidency," Nixon said. "I have not discussed the vice presidency with any governors. I have not discussed it with any senators."

"I do not intend to," he added.

Following the meeting with delegates, Nixon addressed about 1,400 persons at a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner at the Civic Center.

GI's Living With Girls In Vietnam

Pentagon Eyes Moral Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — A high ranking Defense Department spokesman says the department and "responsible military commanders are deeply concerned regarding moral conditions" affecting GI's in Vietnam and other countries.

Maj. Gen. William W. Berg, deputy assistant secretary of defense, made the comment in a letter to McCall's magazine regarding an article in its July edition by Robert Shapiro titled "The Girls They Leave Behind."

The article describes the state of romance between GI's and Vietnamese girls, detailing romances that run from "contract" relationships and casual affairs to marriage.

LETTER TO MAGAZINE

In his letter to Norman Hill of McCall's, Berg said, "The moral behavior of service personnel is a problem which should and does receive continuing command attention."

He said that "in general, service personnel are neither more nor less moral than when they entered the service; unfortunately, some persist in engaging in immoral conduct despite counseling and advice to the contrary."

The article says that "Despite the fact that about 150 marriages take place each year between American servicemen and Vietnamese girls and there are other relationships, short of marriage, that are warm and genuine, 'romance' in Vietnam has by and large been more calculated, practical, and professional than during any previous war in which Americans have participated."

VIETNAMESE GIRLS

"Tens of thousands of young Vietnamese girls have become prostitutes 'or have 'contracted' themselves to live with American soldiers on a temporary basis, usually for six or seven months," it says.

The reason more marriages don't result, the article says, is because of the relatively short time most servicemen are in Vietnam, the language barrier, and red tape thrown up by the Defense Department. This includes the requirement that numerous documents be submitted, including police statements of good conduct for the girl, a chaplain's consent for the GI, medical certificates and others.

The one year rotation system does not encourage marriage, McCall's says, "but in passing the girls along to one another, it does make for orderly arrangements."

Fennville Collision Injures 2

FENNVILLE — Three young men were injured Wednesday afternoon after their vehicles collided head-on on M-89 four miles west of here.

The driver of a panel truck, William Barron, 19, of West Fennville, and his passenger, Dale Atkins, 18, route 1, Fennville, are listed in satisfactory condition today at Douglas Community hospital. Barron suffered a broken leg and multiple lacerations. Atkins suffered a neck injury and multiple bruises. The driver of the car, Frutoso Benavidez, 22, route 1, Pullman, was treated and released for cuts.

The witness said the force of the impact threw both youths through the windshield of the panel truck, they flew through the air and landed in the middle of the roadway. The witness also said both vehicles continued in the same directions they were traveling before the crash and came to rest 215 feet apart.
